Credit Transfer

All language students are strongly encouraged to study abroad in a reputable program in a region where the target language is spoken. Up to four study-away course credits (including summer courses) can be transferred to count toward a DALLC major.

EAST ASIAN LANGUAGES & CULTURES

- CHIN/JAPN 101, 102
- CHIN/JAPN 201, 202
- CHIN/JAPN 301, 302
- Two CHIN/JAPN core electives
- Two approved electives

Students completing 402 by the end of their sophomore year can opt for a dual-language option under the EALC major.

Majors who are placed out of lower-level language courses can take additional core electives or approved electives to replace the language course requirement.

ABOUT DALLC

The mission of the Department of Asian Languages, Literatures, and Cultures (DALLC) is to produce “global citizens” with multilingual abilities, intercultural communicative competence, and multicultural leadership skills, who will be able to make contributions in different sectors of society in a globalized and diverse world. Graduates of our department will not only achieve proficiency in at least one Asian language but also become competent in intercultural communication. They will develop interpretive and analytical skills using both primary texts and secondary sources and become familiar with the textual and cultural traditions in Asia. Our department offers three majors: CHIN, JAPN, and EALC. Students have the option of pursuing a degree with honors in Chinese, Japanese, or East Asian Languages and Cultures through writing an honors thesis.
